UM TO HOLD APRIL 21 CONFERENCE ON PHARMACY AND LAW

MISSOULA --

The University of Montana School of Law and School of Pharmacy and Allied Health Sciences will hold a conference Friday, April 21, on "Law and the Pharmacist: Entering the '90s."

The conference, which will begin at 8:15 a.m. in the Mount Sentinel Room of the University Center, will focus on pharmacists' legal duty to counsel patients. Participants will learn about lawsuits dealing with patient counseling and about potential legal problems for mail-order prescription drug firms.

Pharmacists will discuss "The Evolving Role of the Pharmacist" from four professional perspectives. The speakers will be Warren Amole, executive director of the Montana Board of Pharmacy and president-elect of the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy; William Anderson, director of pharmacy at St. Patrick Hospital in Missoula; David Forbes, dean of UM's pharmacy and allied health sciences school; and Robert Likewise, executive director of the Montana State Pharmaceutical Association.

Washington, D.C., lawyer Allen Eaton will discuss "Strict Liability and the Pharmaceutical Product," and David Brushwood, an associate professor of pharmacy at the West Virginia

University Medical Center, will talk about "The Developing Legal Duty to Counsel Patients."

Gregory Munro, a UM visiting assistant professor of law, will then discuss "The Shadow in the Doorway: Law, Pharmacy and the Mail Order Drug House," after which all the speakers will take part in a panel discussion on "The Ideal Professional Role and Legal Responsibility of the Pharmacist in the '90s." The moderator will be Lori Morin, a UM associate professor of pharmacy.

The conference costs $25 for lawyers and pharmacists, who may earn 5 1/2 continuing-education credits, and is free for students. Participants may register at the door.
